Q: How to quickly delete Nautilus bookmarks? I need to delete the Nautilus bookmarks on my disk but it takes ages. I used to be able to fast-delete a bookmarked file by just pressing "Del", but this doesn't work anymore. I can't even move them to the Trash, I can't delete them even with Ctrl-H. Is there a way to delete them faster than the current Nautilus/GTK3.0 version? A: I found the solution to the problem: Clear the Nautilus's bookmarks folder Go to the file manager and right-click on it. Then go to the View menu and select Marked Items. Open another nautilus and browse to your bookmarks folder. Find the bookmarks you wish to remove and delete them. Now you should be able to remove the folder which contains the bookmarks. I can't even move them to the Trash, I can't delete them even with Ctrl-H. If you can't move them to the trash, you can right click on the Trash (the trash icon) and select Empty Trash. If the delete bookmarks feature doesn't work, then use the remove bookmarks function. Go to the nautilus' bookmarks folder cd ~/.local/share/nautilus/bookmarks/ Inside that folder is a file called.local/share/nautilus/bookmarks.xml Open it with an editor and remove the entries you don't want. The following line should be the entry you want to remove. It can be deleted without any problems: / 82157476af
